PREFACE.

TWENTY years ago the beginner's Latin books published in this country followed the plan of an orderly development, first of the forms, and then of the syntax, of the language. Since that time a different practice has been inaugurated, and most books for beginners now present no connected and systematic development either of forms or of syntax. The conjugation of the verb, for example, is not given connectedly and continuously, but is variously dismembered and scattered throughout the book. So in the syntax the different constructions of a case or a mood are not presented in connection with each other, but are mutually detached and introduced one by one, here and there.

This plan has long seemed to me pedagogically unsound, and in practice I fear that it has not enabled us to realize the best results in our elementary Latin instruction. To me no principle of teaching seems more vital and fundamental than that of presenting together to the pupil those things that naturally belong together. This conviction is not merely founded in theory, but has been steadily forced upon me by actual experience. Hence it has appeared to me psychologically more natural in elementary Latin teaching to present in conjunction with each other the different declensions of nouns, the several conjugations of the verb, the various constructions of the accusative, the genitive, the ablative, etc. That these different categories which I have just enumerated do naturally belong together and have an organic connection seems to be recognized by the universal custom of so presenting them in our Latin grammars.

Again, it is of great importance that the pupil should, in his first introduction to Latin, learn in conjunction with each other those facts that he is ultimately to associate together. This is impossible with the method of arrangement which I am criticising. Pupils spend a part of the first year, or possibly the whole of it, on the beginner's book. They then, in connection with their reading of Latin authors, make a systematic study of the grammar for the next three years. Is there not an unreasonable waste of energy, if the order of presentation in the one book is made to deviate widely from that followed in the other? And is there not a corresponding economy of time and effort, if the pupil becomes familiar in the beginner's book with the arrangement which must ultimately be followed in the grammar?

As justification for the prevalent custom of dismembering the declensions and conjugations in our beginner's books, it is doubtless urged that the acquisition of the forms is difficult, and that the plan of gradual presentation is intended to facilitate the process of learning them. But is it not a fallacy to imagine that any such hesitating, timid policy is likely to be successful in guiding the pupil to a mastery of his inflections? Is not the plan of resolute, systematic, sustained attack upon the declensions and conjugations the more logical, and has any other ever yielded as good results in actual experience? Certainly to me Latin pupils to-day seem to know their forms less accurately than did the pupils of twenty years ago, and this impression I find entertained by teachers of prominence in our best institutions.

The foregoing considerations have impelled me in this book to present the forms before the syntax, and in both forms and syntax to follow the usual order of the Latin grammars. The only deviations from rigid conformity with this programme have been the following:

The inflection of the present indicative of sum and of a paradigm of the present indicative active of a verb of the first conjugation are given at the outset.

Adjectives of the first and second declensions are given immediately after the second declension of nouns.

Such syntactical principles as are necessary for the comprehension and construction of simple sentences are also given in the earliest lessons; for example, the rules for subject, object, predicate nouns, appositives, agreement of adjectives with noun, and of verb with subject. But a very little here is amply sufficient for all rational needs until the forms have been acquired. 'One thing at a time' is a good motto; and until the inflections are learned, and well learned, the peculiarities of Latin syntax would better be kept in the background.

The English-Latin exercises for the first thirty-two chapters (III.-XXXIV.) are intentionally detached from the lessons and placed together after Chapter LX., where they are numbered to correspond with the lessons with which they may be used. My purpose was to discourage the use of English-Latin exercises during the acquisition of the forms. Experience shows that the writing of even the simplest Latin exercises at the outset of one's study takes no small amount of time. These simple sentences involve a multitude of little details, — vocabulary, syntax, word-order, etc., — as well as a knowledge of the inflections themselves. Of the ultimate indispensableness of such exercises, there is no question, but, during the acquisition of the forms, a rather long personal experience as teacher of elementary Latin has taught me to believe that the teacher can by skilful oral exercises and black-board work on the forms themselves accomplish vastly more toward their mastery by the pupil than by devoting any amount of time to the writing of Latin exercises. The writing of Latin is admirably adapted to giving drill in Latin syntax, but it is not the most effective way of teaching the forms. The amount of drill in the forms gained by a written exercise requiring half an hour in its preparation would hardly be as much as can be given in five minutes by the brisk oral questioning of an entire class or by simultaneous blackboard work ; nor would it be nearly so effective. I would therefore earnestly advise deferring the English-Latin exercises until the beginning of the syntax, where such exercises regularly accompany each lesson. Pupils who have mastered their forms will find no difficulty with the English-Latin exercises in Chapters XXXIV.-LX., even though they have not written the exercises of Chapters III.-XXXIV.

Special pains have been taken to make the English-Latin exercises throughout the book as simple as is consistent with the end they are intended to serve. Many elementary books appear to me to make this part of the work too difficult, and give for beginners sentences and passages which no freshman class that I have ever seen could render in Latin with credit.

The Vocabulary of the sixty chapters into which the body of the book is divided, consists of about 750 words, exclusive of proper names. These were selected on the following plan : I first made a list of the words common to Caesar and Nepos. There are some 1800 of these. This list was then reduced to its present size by eliminating all words used less than fifteen times in Caesar.¹ The Vocabulary, therefore, consists of the 750 words in most frequent use by Caesar and Nepos, and should consequently serve equally well as an introduction to either author. My first disposition had been to make the Vocabulary considerably larger, but in working out the details of the book I became fully persuaded of the wisdom of keeping the Vocabulary within narrow limits. The pupil cannot surmount all difficulties at the outset. If he secures a solid foundation in the way of forms and syntax, a vocabulary will be quickly gained with the beginning of continuous reading.

¹As the sentences of the Latin exercises are based mainly on passages in Caesar, it was found convenient to add a small list of words of very frequent occurrence in that author but not found in Nepos. These are mainly military terms, such as legio, cohors, turris, agger, fossa, etc.

The sentences, in the great majority of cases, are taken directly from Caesar's Commentaries. Often a word has been added or omitted, or a tense has been changed, but the Latin will be recognized as essentially Caesar's. The number of sentences given in each exercise is intentionally limited to ten or a dozen, which ought to be entirely adequate.

The Selections for Reading which follow the lessons are the traditional fables along with the Roman history originally prepared by Professor Jacobs, from whose Latin Reader I have taken them. They are sufficiently easy, are interesting, and the Latin is in the main correct. In a few cases, where Jacob's text shows inconsistency with classical usage, I have ventured to make the necessary changes.

In arranging the work by Chapters rather than by Lessons, it has been my purpose to preserve unity of subject-matter as far as possible. A 'chapter' does not necessarily mean that its contents are to be taken at a single lesson. With many pupils it will probably be found possible to take most of the chapters in one exercise, but where that is not feasible, the matter can easily be divided according to the necessities of the case.

I have received generous help from friends in the preparation of this book, and desire here to recognize my obligations to Mr. C. L. Durham, Professor H. C. Elmer, and Mr. F. O. Bates of this University for their counsel and assistance.

PART I.

SOUNDS, QUANTITY, ACCENT.

CHAPTER I.¹

1. ALPHABET.

The Latin Alphabet is the same as the English except that the Latin has no w.

2. SOUNDS CLASSIFIED.

The vowels are a, e, i, o, u, y. The other letters are Consonants. The Diphthongs are ae, oe, au, eu, ui.

3. PRONUNCIATION.²

a) Vowels.

ā ³ as in father ;	ǣ as in the first syllable of ahd ;
ē as in they ;	ĕ as in met ;
ī as in machine ;	ĭ as in pin ;
ō as in note ;	ŏ as in obey, melody ;
ū as in rude ;	ŭ as in put ;

y like French u, German ü.

² The system of pronunciation here given is that employed by the ancient Romans themselves. It is often called the 'Roman Method.'

³ Vowels which are long in quantity are indicated by a horizontal line above them, as ā, ī, ō, etc. Short vowels either have the curved mark (ǣ, ĕ), or are left unmarked.

b) Diphthongs.

- ae like ai in aisle ; eu with its two elements, e and u, oe like oi in oil ; pronounced in rapid succession ;
au like ow in how ; ui occurs mainly in cui and huic.
 These are pronounced as though spelled kwee and wheek.

c) Consonants.

- b, d, f, h, k, l, m, n, p, qu are pronounced as in English except that bs, bt are pronounced ps, pt.
c is always pronounced as k.
t is always pronounced as plain t, never with the sound of sh, as in Eng. oration.
g always as in get ; when ngu precedes a vowel, gu has the sound of gw, as in anguis, languidus.
j¹ has the sound of y as in yet.
r was probably slightly trilled with the tip of the tongue.
s always as in sin, gas ; in suādeō, suāvis, suēsoō, and in compounds and derivatives of these words, su has the sound of sw.
v like w.
x always as ks ; never like Eng. gz or z.
z is best pronounced as Eng. z.
ph, ch, th, are to be pronounced practically like our simple p, k, t.
 Doubled letters like ll, mm, tt, etc., should be pronounced with an endeavor to articulate both members of the combination distinctly.

4.

QUANTITY.

A. Quantity of Vowels.

A vowel is long or short according to the length of time consumed in its pronunciation. As will be seen by comparing the sounds given in § 3, the long sounds take considerably more time to pronounce than the short ones. For example, the ī of machine takes more time than the ī of pin. No absolute rule can be given for determining the quantity of Latin vowels. The pupil can become familiar with them only by observing the quantity as marked in the paradigms, the vocabularies, and the exercises. Yet the following principles are of aid:—

1. A vowel is long,—

- a) before nf, ns, and before gn in nouns and adjectives ending in -gnus, -gna, -gnum; as īnfāns, dīgnus, sīgnus; also in derivatives of words in -gnus, -gna, -gnum; as sīgnificō.
- b) when the result of contraction; as nīlum, for nihilum.
- c) before j; as hūjus.

2. A vowel is short,—

- a) before nt, nd; as amant, amandus. A few rare exceptions occur in cases of compounds whose first member has a long vowel; as nōndum (for nōn dum).
- b) before another vowel or h¹; as meus, trahō. Some exceptions occur, chiefly in proper names derived from the Greek; as Aenēās.

N.B.—Long vowels should always be pronounced long (that is the only thing that 'long' means); short vowels should be pronounced short.

B. Quantity of Syllables.

A syllable is long or short according to the length of time it takes to pronounce such syllable.

1. A syllable is long (that is, it takes a long time to pronounce it),—

- a) if it contains a long vowel; as māter, māgnus, dīus.²
- b) if it contains a diphthong; as causae, foedus.²
- c) if it contains a short vowel followed by x, z, or any two consonants (except a mute followed by l or r)³; as axis, restat, gaza, amantis.⁴

2. A syllable is regularly short if it contains a short vowel followed by a vowel, by a single consonant, or by a mute with l or r; as mea, amat, patris, volucris.⁵

¹ h was pronounced so lightly as to be entirely disregarded, whether singly or in combination.

² Such syllables are sometimes said to be long by nature.

³ The mutes are p, c, t; b, d, g.

⁴ Such syllables are sometimes said to be long by position.

⁵ Such syllables are sometimes said to be short by position.

ACCENT.

1. There are as many syllables in a Latin word as there are separate vowels and diphthongs.

2. Words of two syllables are accented upon the first; as tégit, mórem.

3. Words of more than two syllables are accented upon the penult (next to the last) if that is a long syllable, otherwise upon the antepenult (second from the last); as amāvī, miníster, míserum.

EXERCISE.

Pronounce the following words, observing carefully the proper sound of each letter, and placing the accent upon the proper syllable. Remember to pronounce all long vowels long, all short vowels short. Take care of the vowels, and the syllables will take care of themselves.

- | | |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1. Mājōrum, amīcus, Athēnae. | 2. Queō, pāscō, poscō. |
| 3. Juvenis, porrēctūra, abiimus. | 4. Amīcitia, obtineō, antiquus. |
| 5. Eurōpa, Charmidēs, exemplum. | 6. Ingerō, exiguītās, sanguis. |
| 7. Olympus, mittō, nātiōnēs. | 8. Foedus, dīgnātiō, cōnsēsus. |
| 9. Pervolat, efferre, instituerat. | 10. Arguō, cui, Philippī. |
| 11. Percussus, rēxī, pereō. | 12. Jam, suāvitās, suēscō. |
| 13. Concēdō, signātor, referō. | 14. Īnserō, obserō, persuādet. |

PART II.

INFLECTIONS.

CHAPTER II.

7. THE PARTS OF SPEECH.

The Parts of Speech in Latin are the same as in English; viz., Nouns, Adjectives, Pronouns, Verbs, Adverbs, Prepositions, Conjunctions, and Interjections; but the Latin has no article.

8. INFLECTION.

Of these eight parts of speech, the first four are capable of Inflection, that is, of undergoing change of form to express modifications of meaning. In the case of Nouns, Adjectives, and Pronouns, this process is called Declension; in the case of Verbs, Conjugation.

9. NOUNS.

1. A Noun is the name of a person, place, thing, or quality; as Caesar, Caesar; Rōma, Rome; penna, feather; virtūs, courage.

2. Nouns have Gender, Number, and Case.

10. GENDER.

1. There are in Latin, as in English, three Genders: the Masculine, Feminine, and Neuter.

2. Gender in Latin may be either natural (that is, based on sex, as gender always is in English) or grammatical (not based on sex).

3. Natural Gender. In Latin only nouns denoting persons have natural gender, and these are Masculine, if they denote males, as nauta, sailor; Feminine, if they denote females, as māter, mother.

4. Grammatical Gender. When nouns have grammatical gender, the gender is determined:—

A. By signification. Thus:—

- a) Names of Rivers, Winds, and Months are Masculine; as, Sēquana, Seine; Eurus, East Wind; Aprīlis, April.
- b) Names of Trees, Countries, Towns, and Islands are Feminine; as, quercus, oak; Pontus, Pontus; Corinthus, Corinth; Rhodus, Rhodes.
- c) Indeclinable nouns are Neuter; as, nefās, wrong.

B. By ending.

The principles for gender by ending are given later, under the five declensions.

11. NUMBER.

Latin has two Numbers, the Singular and the Plural. The Singular denotes one object; the Plural more than one.

12. CASES.

I. There are six Cases in Latin:—

Nominative,	Case of Subject;
Genitive,	Objective with of ;
Dative,	Objective with to or for ;
Accusative,	Case of Direct Object;
Vocative,	Case of Address;
Ablative,	Objective with by, from, in, with .

2. LOCATIVE. Vestiges of another case, the Locative (denoting place where), occur in names of towns and in a few other words.

3. OBLIQUE CASES. The Genitive, Dative, Accusative, and Ablative are called Oblique Cases.

4. FORMATION OF THE CASES. The different cases were originally formed by joining certain case-endings to a fundamental part called the stem. Thus portam (Accusative Singular) was formed by joining the case-ending m, to the stem porta-. But in most cases the final vowel of the stem has united so closely with the original case-ending, that the latter has become more or less obscured. The apparent case-ending thus resulting is called a termination.

THE FIVE DECLENSIONS.

There are five Declensions in Latin, distinguished from each other by the final letter of the Stem, and also by the Termination of the Genitive Singular, as follows:—

DECLENSION.	FINAL LETTER OF STEM.	GEN. TERMINATION.
First	ā	-ae
Second	ō	-ī
Third	{ ī Some consonant }	-īs
Fourth	ŭ	-ūs
Fifth	ē	-ēī

Cases alike in Form.

1. The Vocative is regularly like the Nominative, except in the Singular of nouns in -us of the Second Declension.

2. The Dative and Ablative Plural are always alike.

3. In Neuters the Accusative and Nominative are always alike, and in the Plural end in -ā.

4. In the Third, Fourth, and Fifth Declensions, the Accusative Plural is regularly like the Nominative.

CHAPTER III.

14. FIRST DECLENSION. — ā-STEMS.

Pure Latin nouns of the First Declension regularly end, in the Nominative Singular, in -ā, weakened from -ā, and are of the Feminine Gender. They are declined as follows:—

Porta, gate ; stem, portā-

SINGULAR.
CASES.	MEANINGS.	TERMINATIONS.
Nom. porta	a gate (as subject)	-ā
Gen. portae	of a gate	-ae
Dat. portae	to or for a gate	-ae
Acc. portam	a gate (as object)	-am
Voc. porta	O gate !	-ā
Abl. portā	with, by, from, in a gate	-ā
PLURAL.
Nom. portae	gates (as subject)	-ae
Gen. portārum	of gates	-ārum
Dat. portīs	to or for gates	-īs
Acc. portās	gates (as object)	-ās
Voc. portae	O gates !	-ae
Abl. portīs	with, by, from, in gates	-īs

1. The Latin has no article, and porta may mean either a gate or the gate ; and in the Plural, gates or the gates.

15. Peculiarities of Nouns of the First Declension.

1. EXCEPTIONS IN GENDER. Nouns denoting males are Masculine ; as, nauta, sailor ; agricola, farmer.

2. Special Case-Endings,—

- a*) The Locative Singular ends in -ae ; as, Rōmae, at Rome.
- b*) Dea, goddess, and fīlia, daughter, commonly form the Dative and Ablative Plural with the termination -ābus ; as deābus, fīliābus. This is in order to distinguish these words from the corresponding cases of deus, god, and filius, son.

16. Paradigm of the Present Indicative Active of a Verb of the First Conjugation.

SINGULAR.

1. amō,¹ I love.
amās, thou lovest, you love.
amat, he, she, it loves.

PLURAL.

- amāmus, we love.
amātis, you love.
amant, they love.

2. In Latin the Subject of the verb, if a personal pronoun (I, thou, he, we, etc.), is not expressed unless emphatic, but is implied in the verb.

17. Principles of Syntax.

1. The Subject of the Verb stands in the Nominative.
2. The Object of the Verb stands in the Accusative.
3. The Verb agrees with its Subject in Number and Person.

18. VOCABULARY.

accūsō, I accuse.

 7. Galba agricolam vocat. 8. Īnsulās vāstāmus. 9. Galbam et agricolās vocāmus. 10. Filiās agricolae vocō.

¹ All verbs of the First Conjugation are inflected like amō. Such verbs are given in the General Vocabulary with the numeral 1.

² For exercises on the translation of English into Latin, see p. 155 and Preface.

³ The verb in Latin ordinarily stands at the end of the sentence.

CHAPTER IV.

21. SECOND DECLENSION. — ō-STEMS.

Pure Latin nouns of the Second Declension end in -us, -er, -ir, Masculine; -um, Neuter; and are declined as follows: —

22. Peculiarities of Inflection in the Second Declension.

1. Most nouns in -er in common use are declined like ager, not like puer.

2. Nouns in -ius and -ium throughout the best period of the language formed the Genitive Singular in -ī (instead of -iī) ; as, —

Nom. ingenium	filius
Gen. ingēnī	filī

These Genitives accent the penult, even when it is short.

3. The Locative Singular ends in -ī ; as, Corinthī, at Corinth.

23. Inflection of the Present Indicative of the Verb sum.

sum , I am.	sumus , we are.
ēs , ¹ thou art, you are.	estis , ¹ you are.
est , ¹ he, she, it is.	sunt , they are.

24. Principles of Syntax.

1. A Predicate Noun (that is, a noun limiting its subject through the medium of the verb to be, or some similar word, as seem, become) agrees with its subject in case ; as, —

Mercurius est deus, Mercury is a god.

2. An Appositive agrees in case with the word which it explains ; as, — Mercurius, deus, Mercury, the god.

25. VOCABULARY.

amīcus , ī, m., friend.	oppūgnō , I attack, assault.
auxilium , ī (iī), n., aid, help.	perīculum , ī, n., danger.
Belgae , ārum, m. plu., Belgians, a Gallic tribe.	proelium , ī (iī), n., battle.

EXERCISES.

26. 1. Oppidī, oppidōrum. 2. Estis, es. 3. Vicō, vicīs.

¹ A predicate noun may (and often does) follow the verb.

CHAPTER V.

28.

ADJECTIVES.

Adjectives denote quality. They are declined like nouns, and fall into two classes, —

1. Adjectives of the First and Second Declensions.
2. Adjectives of the Third Declension.

Adjectives of the First and Second Declensions.

In these the Masculine is declined like hortus, puer, or ager, the Feminine like porta, and the Neuter like bellum.

29. Thus, Masculine like hortus :—

Bonus, good.

SINGULAR.

	MASCULINE.	FEMININE.	NEUTER.

Voc.	sacrī	sacrae	sacra

1. Most adjectives in -er are declined like sacer. Of adjectives in common use only the following are declined like tener : asper, rough ; liber, free ; miser, wretched.

32.

Principles of Syntax.

1. An Adjective agrees with the noun which it limits in Gender, Number, and Case.

2. An Adjective limiting its noun directly is called an attributive adjective, as via longa, a long journey; an Adjective limiting its noun through the medium of the verb esse, to be, or some similar verb, is a predicate adjective, as via est longa, the journey is long; via videtur longa, the journey seems long.

33.

¹ The attributive adjective (see § 32, 2) in Latin, as in English, more commonly precedes the word which it limits. This is especially true of adjectives of number, amount, etc. Yet other adjectives when used attributively often follow the noun; see, for example, § 34, 5; 35, 2.

CHAPTER VI.

36. NOUNS OF THE THIRD DECLENSION.

Nouns of the Third Declension end in -a, -e, -ī, -ō, -y, -c, -l, -n, -r, -s, -t, -x. The Third Declension includes several distinct classes of Stems, —

I. Pure Consonant-Stems.

II. ī-Stems.

III. Mixed Stems. (Consonant Stems which have partially adapted themselves to the inflection of ī-Stems.)

Consonant-Stems.

37. I. In these the stem appears in its unaltered form in all the oblique cases; so that the actual case-endings may be clearly recognized.

2. Consonant-Stems fall into several natural subdivisions, according as the stem ends in a Mute, Liquid, Nasal, or Spirant.

Mute-Stems.

38. Mute-Stems may end, —

1. In a Labial (b or p); as, trab-s; prīncep-s.
2. In a Guttural (g or c); as, rēmex (rēmeg-s); dux (duc-s).

Voc. mōrēs	genera	honōrēs
Abl. mōribus	generibus	honōribus

1. Note that the final s of the stem becomes r (between vowels) in the oblique cases. In some words, as honor, the r of the oblique cases has, by analogy, crept into the Nominative, displacing the earlier s.

i-Stems.A. Masculine and Feminine i-Stems.

48. These regularly end in -is in the Nominative Singular, and always have -ium in the Genitive Plural. Originally the Accusative Singular ended in -im, the Ablative Singular in -ī, and the Accusative Plural in -īs; but these endings have been largely displaced by -em, -e, and -ēs, the endings of Consonant-Stems.

49. Turris, f., tower;

Hostis, c., enemy;
stem, hosti-.

Abl.	turribus	hostibus	-ibus

B. Neuter i-Stems.

50. These end in the Nominative Singular in -e, -al, and -ar. They always have -ī in the Ablative Singular, -ia in the Nominative, Accusative, and Vocative Plural, and -ium in the Genitive Plural, thus holding more steadfastly to the i-character than do Masculine and Feminine i-Stems.

Sedile, seat;
stem, sedīli-.

Animal, animal;
stem, animāli-.

Calcar, spur;
stem, calcāri-.

Voc.	sedilia	animālia	calcāria	-ia
Abl.	sedilibus	animālibus	calcāribus	-ibus

1. In most words of this class the final -i of the stem is lost in the Nominative Singular; in others it appears as -e.

Mixed Stems.

(Consonant-Stems that have partially adapted themselves to the inflection of ī-stems.)

51. Many Consonant-Stems have so far adapted themselves to the inflection of ī-stems as to take -ium in the Genitive Plural, and -is in the Accusative Plural. Their true character as Consonant-Stems, however, is shown by the fact that they never take -im in the Accusative Singular, or -ī in the Ablative Singular. The following words are examples of this class:—

SINGULAR.

PLURAL.

- a) Nouns in -ēs, with Genitive in -is ; as, nūbēs, aedēs, etc.
- b) Many monosyllables in -s or -x preceded by one or more consonants ; as, urbs, mōns.

CHAPTER VIII.

GENDER IN THIRD DECLENSION.—THE FOURTH AND FIFTH DECLENSIONS.

55. General Principles of Gender in the Third Declension.

1. Nouns in -ō, -or, -ōs, -er, -ēs are Masculine.
2. Nouns in -ās, -ēs, -is, -ys, -x, -s (preceded by a consonant); -dō, -gō (Genitive -inis); -iō (abstract and collective), -ūs (Genitive -ūtis or -ūdis) are Feminine.
3. Nouns ending in -a, -e, -ī, -y, -c, -l, -n, -t, -ar, -ur, -ūs are Neuter.
4. There are many exceptions to the foregoing principles. These are noted in the Vocabularies.

FOURTH DECLENSION.—ŭ-STEMS.

56. Nouns of the Fourth Declension end in -us Masculine, and -ū Neuter. They are declined as follows:—

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES.

72. 1. There are three degrees of Comparison, — the Positive, the Comparative, and the Superlative.

2. The Comparative is regularly formed by adding -ior (Neut. -ius), and the Superlative by adding -issimus (-a, -um), to the Stem of the Positive deprived of its final vowel ; as, —

altus, high ,	altior, higher ,	altissimus, { highest , very high .
fortis, brave ,	fortior,	fortissimus.
fēlix, fortunate ,	fēlicior,	fēlicissimus.

3. Adjectives in -er form the Superlative by appending -rimus to the Nominative of the Positive. The Comparative is regular. Thus : — pulcher, beautiful ,	pulchrior,	pulcherrimus.

celer, swift ,	celerior,	celerrimus.

4. Five Adjectives in -ilis form the Superlative by adding -limus to the Stem of the Positive deprived of its final vowel. The Comparative is regular. Thus : — facilis, easy ,	facilior,	facillimus.

difficilis, difficult ,	difficilior	difficillimus.
similis, like ,	similior,	simillimus.

CHAPTER XII.

FORMATION AND COMPARISON OF ADVERBS.—NUMERALS.

78. Adverbs are for the most part derived from adjectives, and depend upon them for their comparison.

1. Adverbs derived from adjectives of the First and Second Declensions form the Positive by changing -ī of the Genitive Singular to -ē; those derived from adjectives of the Third Declension, by changing -is of the Genitive Singular to -iter; as, — cārus,	cārē, dearly ;

pulcher,	pulchrē, beautifully ;
ācer,	ācriter, fiercely .

a) But Adjectives in -us, and a few others, add -ter (instead of -iter), to form the Adverb; as, — sapiēns,	sapienter, wisely ;

audāx,	audacter, boldly .

2. The Comparative of all Adverbs regularly consists of the Accusative Singular Neuter of the Comparative of the Adjective; while the Superlative of the Adverb is found by changing the -ī of the Genitive Singular of the Superlative of the Adjective to -ē. Thus —

(cārus)	cārē, dearly ,	cārius,	cārissimē.
(pulcher)	pulchrē, beautifully ,	pulchrius,	pulcherrimē.
(ācer)	ācriter, fiercely ,	ācrius,	ācerrimē.
(audāx)	audacter, boldly ,	audācius,	audācissimē.

multum, much ,	plūs,	plūrimum.
nōn multum,	} little ,	minimē.
parum,
saepe, often ,	saepius,	saepissimē.

² The Possessive Pronouns, unless emphatic, are ordinarily placed after the noun which they limit.

³ The Demonstrative Pronoun, like an adjective, agrees in Gender, Number, and Case with the noun it limits.

CHAPTER XV.

RELATIVE, INTERROGATIVE, AND INDEFINITE PRONOUNS.

VI. The Relative Pronoun.

100. The Relative Pronoun is quī, who. It is declined:—

	SINGULAR.			PLURAL.
	MASCULINE.	FEMININE.	NEUTER.	MASCULINE.	FEMININE.	NEUTER.

VII. Interrogative Pronouns.

101. The Interrogative Pronouns are quis, who? (substantive) and quī, what? what kind of? (adjective).

1. Quis, who?

2. quī, what? what kind of? is declined precisely like the Relative Pronoun; viz. quī, quae, quod, etc.

VIII. Indefinite Pronouns.

102. These have the general force of some one, any one, as shown in the following list:—

SUBSTANTIVES.			ADJECTIVES.
M. AND F.	NEUT.		MASC.	FEM.	NEUT.
quis,	quid, { any one, anything.		quī,	quae or qua,	quod, any.
aliquis,	aliquid, { some one, something.		aliquī,	aliqua,	aliquod, some.
quisquam,	quidquam, { any one, anything.		No corresponding adjective.
quispiam,	quidpiam, { any one, anything.		quispiam,	quaepiam,	quodpiam, any. quisque,	quidque, each.		quisque,	quaeque,	quodque, each.
quīvis, quaevis, quidvis,	{ any one, anything you wish.		quīvis,	quaevis,	quodvis, { any

quīdam, quaedam, quiddam,	{ a certain person or thing.		quīdam,	quaedam,	quoddam, { a cer- tain.

1. In the Indefinite Pronouns, only the pronominal part is declined. Thus: Genitive Singular alicūjus, cūjuslibet, etc.

2. Note that aliquī has aliqua in the Nominative Singular Feminine, also in the Nominative and Accusative Plural Neuter. Quī has both qua and quae in these same cases.

3. Quīdam forms Accusative Singular quendam, quandam; Genitive Plural quōrundam, quārundam; the m being assimilated to n before d.

4. There are two Indefinite Relatives, — quicumque and quisquis, whoever. Quicumque declines only the first part; quisquis declines both, but has only quisquis, quidquid, quōquod in common use.

103.

Principle of Syntax.

Agreement of Relative Pronouns. The Relative Pronoun agrees with its Antecedent in Gender and Number, but its Case is determined by its construction in the clause in which it stands; as, — mulier quam vidēbāmus, the woman whom we saw; bona quae dēsīderāmus, the blessings which we miss.

104.

¹ Quis and quid are sometimes used as interrogative adjectives. They have the force of what? whereas quī, quod mean rather what kind of?

CHAPTER XVI.

CONJUGATION.

107. The Inflection of Verbs is called Conjugation.

108. Verbs have Voice, Mood, Tense, Number, Person :

1. Two Voices, — Active and Passive.
2. Three Moods, — Indicative, Subjunctive, Imperative.
3. Six Tenses, — Present, Imperfect, Future, Perfect, Pluperfect, Future Perfect.

But the Subjunctive lacks the Future and Future Perfect ; while the Imperative employs only the Present and Future.

4. Two Numbers, — Singular and Plural.
5. Three Persons, — First, Second, and Third.

109. These make up the so-called Finite Verb. Besides this, we have the following Noun and Adjective Forms : —

1. Noun Forms, — Infinitive, Gerund, and Supine.
2. Adjective Forms, — Participles (including the Gerundive).

THE FOUR CONJUGATIONS.

110. There are in Latin four regular Conjugations, distinguished from each other by the vowel of the termination of the Present Infinitive Active, as follows : —

CONJUGATION.	INFINITIVE TERMINATION.	DISTINGUISHING VOWEL.
I.	-āre	ā
II.	-ēre	ē
III.	-ere	ē
IV.	-ire	ī

111. PRINCIPAL PARTS. The Present Indicative, Present Infinitive, Perfect Indicative, and the Perfect Participle¹ constitute the Principal Parts of a Latin verb, — so called because they contain the different stems, from which the full conjugation of the verb may be derived.

¹ Where the Perfect Participle is not in use, the Future Active Participle, if it occurs, is given as one of the Principal Parts.

Indicative of sum.

112. The irregular verb sum is so important for the conjugation of all other verbs that its inflection is given at the outset.

They are but the relics of what was once in Latin a large class of Verbs.

2. The Predicate Accusative may be an Adjective as well as a Noun ;
as, — hominēs caecōs reddit cupiditās, covetousness renders men blind.

3. In the Passive the Direct Object becomes the Subject, and the Dative of Agency.

225. With the Gerundive the Dative is used to denote agency; as, —

*haec nōbīs agenda sunt, these things must be done by us ;

Adjectives used Substantively.

281. I. PLURAL ADJECTIVES USED SUBSTANTIVELY. Adjectives, including Possessive Pronouns, are quite freely used as Substantives in the Plural. The Masculine denotes persons; the Neuter denotes things; as, — doctī, learned men; nostrī, our men; parva, small things.

2. In the Singular, Adjectives are not often used as Substantives.

Adjectives with the Force of Adverbs.

282. The Latin often uses an Adjective where the English idiom employs an Adverb or an adverbial phrase; as, — invītī abeunt, they go away unwillingly (lit. unwilling).

Comparatives and Superlatives.

283. I. The Comparative often corresponds to the English Positive with ‘rather,’ ‘somewhat,’ ‘too’; as, — senectūs est loquācior, old age is rather talkative.

2. So the Superlative often corresponds to the Positive with ‘very’; as, — vir fortissimus, a very brave man.

Other Peculiarities.

284. I. Certain Adjectives may be used to denote a part of an object, chiefly prīmus, extrēmus, summus, medius, īnīmus, īmus; ¹ as, — summus mōns, the top of the mountain.

2. Prior, prīmus, ultimus, and postrēmus are frequently equivalent to a relative clause; as, — prīmus eam vidī, I was the first who saw her.

CHAPTER XLVII.

SYNTAX OF PRONOUNS.

Personal Pronouns.

288. 1. The Personal Pronouns as subjects of verbs are, as a rule, not expressed except for the purpose of emphasis, contrast, or clearness. Thus ordinarily:—

videō, I see ; amat, he loves.

But ego tē videō, et tū mē vidēs, I see you, and you see me.

2. The Genitives meī, tuī, nostrī, vestrī are used only as Objective Genitives; nostrum and vestrum as Genitives of the Whole. Thus:—

memor tuī, mindful of you ;
nēmō vestrum, no one of you.

Possessive Pronouns.

289. The Possessive Pronouns, as a rule, are not employed except for the purpose of clearness. Thus:—

patrem amō, I love my father.

But — patrem tuum amō, I love your father.

Reciprocal Pronouns.

290. The Latin has no special reciprocal pronoun ('each other'), but expresses the reciprocal notion by the phrases: inter nōs, inter vōs, inter sē, or by the simple nōs, vōs, sē; as,— Belgae obsidēs inter sē dedērunt, the Belgae gave each other hostages (lit. among themselves).

Demonstrative Pronouns.

Hīc, Ille, Iste.

291. 1. Where hīc and ille are used in contrast, hīc usually refers to the latter of two objects, and ille to the former.

2. Iste frequently involves contempt; as, iste homō, that fellow!

Ipse.

292. 1. Ipse, literally self, acquires its special force from the context; as, — eō ipsō diē, on that very day;

ad ipsam rīpam, close to the bank;
ipsō terrōre, by mere fright.

Pronominal Adjectives.

293. 1. Alius, another, and alter, the other, are often used correlatively; as, — aliud loquitur, aliud sentit, he says one thing, he thinks another; alter exercitum perdidit, alter vēdidit, one ruined the army, the other sold it.

THE SUBJUNCTIVE IN INDEPENDENT SENTENCES.

297. The Subjunctive is used in Independent Sentences to express something —

1. As willed — Volitive Subjunctive ;
2. As desired — Optative Subjunctive ;
3. Conceived of as possible — Potential Subjunctive.

Volitive Subjunctive.

298. The Volitive Subjunctive has the following varieties : —

A. HORTATORY SUBJUNCTIVE.

299. The Hortatory Subjunctive expresses an exhortation. This use is confined to the first person plural of the Present. The negative is nē. Thus : — eāmus, let us go ;

nē dēspērēmus, let us not despair.

B. JUSSIVE SUBJUNCTIVE.

300. The Jussive Subjunctive expresses a command. The Jussive stands regularly in the Present Tense, and is used, —

1. Most frequently in the third singular and third plural ; as, — dīcat, let him tell.

2. Negative commands, i.e. prohibitions, are rarely expressed by the Subjunctive, but usually by means of nōlī (nōlīte), with a following infinitive ; as, — nōlī hōc facere, don't do this (lit. be unwilling to do) !

C. DELIBERATIVE SUBJUNCTIVE.

301. The Deliberative Subjunctive is used in questions and exclamations implying doubt or indignation. The Present is used referring to present time, the Imperfect referring to past. The negative is nōn. Thus: — quid faciam, what shall I do?

quid facerem, what was I to do?

hunc ego nōn dīligam, shall I not cherish this man?

- a. These Deliberative Questions are usually purely Rhetorical in character, and do not expect an answer.

OPTATIVE SUBJUNCTIVE.—POTENTIAL SUBJUNCTIVE.— THE IMPERATIVE.

305. The Optative Subjunctive occurs in expressions of wishing. The negative is regularly nē. The use of tenses is as follows:—

1. The Present Tense, often accompanied by utinam, is used where the wish is conceived of as possible.

dī istaec prohibeant, may the gods prevent that!
nē veniant, may they not come!

2. The Imperfect expresses, in the form of a wish, the regret that something is not so now; the Pluperfect, that something was not so in the past. The Imperfect and Pluperfect are regularly accompanied by utinam; as,— utinam istud ex animō dīcerēs, would that you were saying that in earnest! (i.e. I regret that you are not saying it in earnest); utinam vēnisset, would that he had come.

Potential Subjunctive.

306. The force of the Potential Subjunctive is expressed by the English auxiliaries should, would. Both the Present and Perfect tenses occur, and without appreciable difference of meaning, as,— fortūnam facilius reperiās quam retineās, you would find Fortune more easily than you would hold her.

1. The negative of the Potential Subjunctive is nōn.
2. May and can-Potentials are so rare that the student should not venture to use these auxiliaries in rendering the Latin Potential.

The Imperative.

307. The Imperative is used in commands, admonitions, and entreaties (negative nē); as, — ēgredere ex urbe, depart from the city;

mihi ignōsce, pardon me;
valē, farewell.

1. The Present is the tense of the Imperative most commonly used.

portās clausit, nē quam oppidānī injūriam acciperent, he closed the gates, lest the townspeople should receive any injury.

a) Quō, as a rule, is employed only when the purpose clause contains a comparative.

Helvētiī lēgātōs mittunt quī dīcerent, the Helvetii sent envoys to say (lit. who should say).

Sequence of Tenses.

312. 1. In all dependent clauses, the tenses of the Subjunctive usually conform to the so-called ‘Sequence of Tenses.’ By the Sequence of Tenses, Principal Tenses of the Indicative are followed by Principal Tenses of the Subjunctive, Historical by Historical.

2. The Principal Tenses of the Indicative are: Present, Future, Present Perfect, Future Perfect.

The Historical Tenses are: Imperfect, Historical Perfect, Pluperfect.

Sōcratēs accūsātus est quod corrumperet juventūtem, Socrates was arraigned on the ground that he was corrupting the young. (Here the reason is not that of the writer but of the accuser. Hence the Subjunctive.)

inquit ‘vīxī,’ Epaminondas, after he heard that the Boeotians had conquered, said, ‘I have lived enough.’

CHAPTER LIV.

SUBSTANTIVE CLAUSES.

335. A Substantive Clause is one which as a whole serves as the Subject or Object of a verb, or denotes some other case relation.

Substantive Clauses developed from the Jussive.

336. These are generally used as object-clauses, and occur especially with the following classes of verbs:—

1. With verbs signifying to admonish, request, command (conjunctions ut, nē) ; as, — postulō ut fīat, I demand that it be done (dependent form of the Jussive fīat, let it be done!) ;

ōrat, nē abeās, he begs that you will not go away.

Jubeō, command, order, regularly takes the Infinitive.

2. With verbs signifying to grant, concede (conjunction ut) ; as, — huic concēdō ut ea praetereat, I allow him to pass that by (dependent form of the Jussive ea praetereat, let him pass that by).

3. With verbs of deciding, resolving, etc. (conjunctions ut, nē) ; as, — dēcrēvit senātus ut Opīmius vidēret, the senate decreed that Opimius should see to it (dependent form after an historical tense of the Jussive, Opīmius videat, let Opimius see).

Substantive Clauses after Verbs of hindering.

337. These are introduced by nē, quōminus, or quīn ; as, — nē lūstrum perficeret, mors prohibuit, death prevented him from finishing the lustrum.

prohibuit quōminus in ūnum coīrent, he prevented them from coming together.

SUBSTANTIVE CLAUSES (CONTINUED).

Substantive Clauses developed from the Optative.

341. Here belong clauses :—

1. With verbs of wishing, desiring, especially optō, volō, mālō (conjunctions ut, nē) ; as, — optō ut in hōc jūdiciō nēmō improbus reperiātur, I hope that in this court no bad man may be found (here ut reperiātur represents a simple optative of direct statement, viz. nēmō improbus reperiātur, may no bad man be found!).

2. With verbs of fearing (timeō, metuō, vereor). Here nē means that, lest, and ut means that not ; as, — timeō nē veniat, I fear that he will come (originally : may he not come! I'm afraid [he will]) ; timeō ut veniat, I fear that he will not come (originally : may he come! I'm afraid [he won't]).

Substantive Clauses of Result.

342. Substantive Clauses of Result (introduced by ut, ut nōn) are a development of pure Result clauses, and occur with the following classes of words :—

1. As object clauses after verbs of doing, accomplishing. Thus :—

gravitās morbī facit ut medicīnā egeāmus, the severity of disease makes us need medicine (lit. makes that we need).

ex quō efficitur, ut voluptās nōn sit summum bonum, from which it follows that pleasure is not the greatest good.

Indirect Questions.

343. Indirect Questions are Substantive Clauses used after verbs of asking, inquiring, telling, and the like. They take their verb in the Subjunctive. Like Direct Questions (see § 203) they may be introduced —

a) By Interrogative Pronouns or Adverbs; as, — dīc mihi ubi fueris, quid fēceris, tell me where you were, what you did.

b) By num or -ne, without distinction of meaning; as, —

Epaminōndās quaesivit num salvus esset clipeus, or salvusne esset clipeus, Epaminondas asked whether his shield was safe.

CHAPTER LVI.

CONDITIONAL SENTENCES. — CLAUSES WITH quamvis
AND quamquam.

347. Conditional Sentences are compound sentences consisting of two parts, the Protasis (or condition), usually introduced by sī, nisi, or sīn, and the Apodosis (or conclusion). We distinguish the following types of Conditional Sentences : —

First Type. — Nothing Implied as to the Reality of the Supposed Case.

348. Here we regularly have the Indicative in both Protasis and Apodosis. Any tense may be used; as,— sī hōc crēdis, errās, if you believe this, you are mistaken ;

nātūram sī sequēmur, numquam aberrābimus, if we follow Nature, we shall never go astray ; sī hōc dixistī, errāvistī, if you said this, you were in error.

Second Type.—‘Should’ . . . ‘would’ Type.

349. Here we regularly have the Subjunctive (of the Present or Perfect tense) in both Protasis and Apodosis; as, — sī hōc dīcās, errēs, } if you should say this, you would sī hōc dīxeris, errāveris, } be mistaken.

Third Type.—Supposed Case represented as Contrary to Fact.

350. Here we regularly have the Subjunctive in both Protasis and Apodosis, the Imperfect referring to present time, and the Pluperfect referring to past; as, — sī amīcī meī adessent, opis nōn indigērem, if my friends were here, I should not lack assistance.

sī hōc dīxissēs, errāvissēs, if you had said this, you would have erred.

Clauses with quamvis, quamquam, etc., 'although.'

351. 1. Quamvis, however much, although, does not introduce a statement of fact, but represents an act merely as conceived. It is followed by the Subjunctive, usually of the present tense; as, — nōn est potestās opitulandī reī publicae quamvis ea premātur periculīs, there is no opportunity to succor the state, though it be beset by dangers.

2. Quamquam, etsi, tametsi, although, introduce a statement of fact, and are followed by the Indicative (of any tense); as, — quamquam festinās, nōn est mora longa, although you are in haste, the delay is not long.

3. Cum, although, is followed by the Subjunctive; as, — mē nōn adjūvit, cum posset, he did not help me, though he was able.

352.

CHAPTER LVII.

INDIRECT DISCOURSE (Ōrātiō Oblīqua).

355. When the language or thought of any person is quoted without change, that is called Direct Discourse (Ōrātiō Rēcta); as, —

Caesar said, 'The die is cast.'

When, on the other hand, one's language or thought is made to depend upon a verb of saying, thinking, etc., that is called Indirect Discourse (Ōrātiō Oblīqua); as, —

Caesar said that the die was cast;

Caesar thought that his troops were victorious.

Moods in Indirect Discourse.

356. Declaratory Sentences upon becoming Indirect change their main clause to the Infinitive with Subject Accusative, while all subordinate clauses take the Subjunctive; as, —

Rēgulus dixit,³ quam diū jūre jūrاندō hostium tenērētur, nōn esse sē senātōrem, Regulus said that as long as he was held by his pledge to the enemy he was not a senator. (Direct: quam diū teneor, nōn sum senātor.)

¹ § 267.

² Observe that come really equals shall come. Hence the future must be used. In conditional sentences the English present often has the force of the future, and must be so rendered in Latin.

³ The verb of saying, etc., regularly precedes the Indirect Discourse.

Tenses in Indirect Discourse.

A. TENSES OF THE INFINITIVE.

357. The tenses of the Infinitive denote time not absolutely, but with reference to the verb on which they depend. Thus:—

- a) The Present Infinitive represents an act as contemporaneous with the time of the verb on which it depends; as,— dīcit sē facere, he says he is doing; dīxit sē facere, he said he was doing.

- b) The Perfect Infinitive represents an act as prior to the time of the verb on which it depends; as,— dīcit sē fēcisse, he says he has done; dīxit sē fēcisse, he said he had done.

- c) The Future Infinitive represents an act as subsequent to that of the verb on which it depends; as,— dīcit sē factūrum esse, he says he will do; dīxit sē factūrum esse, he said he would do.

B. TENSES OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

358. These follow the regular principle for the Sequence of Tenses, being Principal, if the verb of saying is Principal; Historical, if it is Historical; as,— dīcit sē lēgātōs vidēre, quī vēnerint, he says he sees the envoys who have come;

dīxit sē lēgātōs vidēre, quī vēnissent, he said he saw the envoys who had come.

CHAPTER LVIII.

THE INFINITIVE.

Infinitive without Subject Accusative.

362. This may be used either as Subject or Object.

A. As Subject.

363. The Infinitive without Subject Accusative is used as the Subject of esse and various impersonal verbs, particularly opus est, necesse est, oportet, licet, puđet, etc.; as, — dulce et decōrum est prō patriā morī, it is sweet and noble to die for one's country.

B. As Object.

364. 1. The Infinitive without Subject Accusative is used as the Object of many verbs, to denote another action of the same subject, particularly after —

dēbeō , ought ;	audeō , dare ;
and many others.

2. A predicate Noun or Adjective with these Infinitives is attracted into the Nominative; as, — beātus esse sine virtūte nēmō potest, no one can be happy without virtue.

Infinitive with Subject Accusative.

365. This may be used either as Subject or Object.

A. As Subject.

366. The Infinitive with Subject Accusative (like the simple Infinitive) appears as Subject with esse and Impersonal verbs, particularly with ūtile est, oportet, cōstat, etc.; as, — nihil in bellō oportet contemnī, nothing ought to be despised in war (lit. nothing to be despised, is fitting).

B. As Object.

367. The Infinitive with Subject Accusative is used as Object after the following classes of verbs :—

I. Most frequently after verbs of saying, thinking, knowing, perceiving, and the like. This is the regular construction of Principal Clauses of Indirect Discourse, and has received full illustration in the preceding chapter (LVII).

II. With jubeō, order, and vetō, forbid; as,— Caesar militēs pontem facere jussit, Caesar ordered the soldiers to make a bridge.

Historical Infinitive.

368. The Infinitive is often used in historical narrative instead of the Imperfect Indicative. The Subject stands in the Nominative; as,— interim cottidiē Caesar Haeduōs frumentum flāgitāre, meanwhile Caesar was daily demanding grain of the Haedui.

369.

 9. We ordered the messengers to be dismissed.

CHAPTER LIX.

PARTICIPLES.

372. I. TENSES OF THE PARTICIPLE. The tenses of the Participle, like those of the Infinitive, express time not absolutely, but with reference to the verb upon which the Participle depends.

2. The Present Participle denotes action contemporary with that of the verb. Thus:—

audiō tē loquentem = you ARE speaking, and I hear you;

audiēbam tē loquentem = you WERE speaking, and I heard you;

audiam tē loquentem = you WILL BE speaking, and I shall hear you.

3. The Perfect Passive Participle denotes action prior to that of the verb. Thus:—

locūtus taceō = I HAVE spoken and am silent;

locūtus tacuī = I had spoken and then was silent;

locūtus tacēbō = I shall speak and then shall be silent.

a. The Future Participle, as a rule, is not used except in the Active Periphrastic Conjugation.

4. The absolute time of the action of a participle, therefore, is determined entirely by the finite verb with which it is connected.

5. Participles are often equivalent to an English subordinate clause, relative, temporal, causal, conditional, etc.; as,— omne malum nāscēns facile opprimitur, every evil is easily crushed at birth;

mente ūtī nōn possumus cibō et pōtiōne complētī, if gorged with food and drink, we cannot use our intellects.

6. Often, too, the participle is equivalent to a coördinate clause ; as, — Ahāla Maelium occupātum interēmit. Ahala surprised and killed Maelius (lit. killed Maelius having been surprised).

373.

CHAPTER LX.

GERUND AND GERUNDIVE. — SUPINE.

376. Of the four cases in which the Gerund occurs, only the Genitive, Accusative, and Ablative are in common use.

1. The Genitive admits the same constructions as nouns ; as, — cupidus audiendī, desirous of hearing.
2. The Accusative occurs only with prepositions ; as, — ad agendū nātus, born for action.
3. The Ablative is used both alone and with prepositions ; as, — mēns discendō alitur, the mind is fed by learning.
4. As a rule, only the Genitive of the Gerund and the Ablative (without a preposition) admit a Direct Object.

Gerundive Construction instead of the Gerund.

377. 1. Instead of the Genitive or Ablative of the Gerund with a Direct Object, another construction may be, and very often is, used. This consists in putting the Direct Object in the case of the Gerund (Gen. or Abl.) and using the Gerundive in agreement with it. This is called the Gerundive Construction. Thus : —

GERUND CONSTRUCTION.

GERUNDIVE CONSTRUCTION.

cupidus urbem videndī , desirous of seeing the city ;	}	cupidus urbis videndae ;
dēlector orātōrēs legendō , I am charmed with reading the orators.	}	dēlector orātōribus legendīs .

2. The Gerundive Construction must also be used to avoid a Direct Object with the Dative of the Gerund, or with a case dependent upon a Preposition ; as, — locus castrīs mūniendīs aptus, a place adapted to fortifying a camp ;

ad pācem petendam vērēunt, they came to ask peace.

3. The commonest use of the Gerundive Construction is with ad to denote purpose, as in the second of the two preceding examples.

The Supine.

378. 1. The Supine in -um is used after Verbs of motion to express purpose; as, — lēgātī ad Caesarem grātulātum convēnērunt, envoys came to Caesar to congratulate him.

2. The Supine in -ū is used as an Ablative of Specification with facilis, difficilis, incredibilis, jūcundus, optimus, etc.; as, — haec rēs est facilis cognitū, this thing is easy to learn.

379.

NOTES ON THE SELECTIONS FOR READING.

414. eī: for her. pariēbat: notice the imperfect tense, which is regularly used to denote a customary or repeated action. illam: this is the subject of cēlāre; māssam is the object. repperit: from reperiō. nisi quod: except what; the antecedent of quod is id understood. minōrēs: i.e. lesser riches; understand dīvitiās.

415. pāscēbantur: used to graze. dissidiō . . . ortō: when discord arose or since discord arose, lit. discord having arisen. In rendering the ablative absolute, pains should be taken to translate it by an equivalent English idiom. quantum bonī: how great advantage, lit. how much of good.

416. Cui: indirect object of inquit. boum: gen. plu. of bōs. ista: your, lit. that, that of yours. quod: in that; the clause quod pateris is explanatory of invidia. pateris: from patior. nec . . . nec: neither . . . nor. velīs, possīs: these verbs are in the subjunctive by attraction. In Latin, a clause dependent upon a subjunctive is regularly attracted into the same mood.

417. Duo: two men. ūnā: the adv., together. iter faciēbant: were travelling, lit. were making a journey. nec: and . . . not.

418. praetereuntī: who was passing by; pres. participle of praetereō.

419. ille: i.e. the farmer. eum: the mouse. quod dēspērāre dēbeat: that it ought to despair; quod is the relative; clauses of result are sometimes introduced by relatives. modo . . . velit: provided it wishes; modo in this sense is regularly followed by the subjunctive.

420. quī . . . extrahat: to pull it out. Hōc: i.e. the removal of the bone. parva mercēs: this is the predicate nominative with vidētur, the subject of vidētur being the clause quod . . . extrāxistī, that you took your head out unharmed.

421. inquiunt: 3d plu. of inquit; its subject is hostēs. hōc ipsum: this very thing. cum: though.

422. Agricola senex: an old farmer. mortem sibi appropinquāre: that death was approaching him, lit. death to approach himself. ut fieri solet: as is wont to happen. nōverat: knew; the perfect of nōscō has the force of the present in the sense, I know, and the pluperfect similarly has the force of the imperfect. ut frangerent: to break. Observe that frangerent is in the imperfect, although hortātur is in the present. At first sight this seems to violate the principle for the sequence of tenses; but hortātur is what is called an Historical Present, i.e. it really refers to the past; and hence is treated as an historical tense. Quod cum facere nōn possent: and when they could not do this, lit. when they could not do which; it is very common in Latin to introduce a sentence by a relative, where in English we should employ a demonstrative or personal pronoun with a conj., — and he, but he, and this, but this, etc. frāctīs: i.e. by the sons. quamque: and how; que is the enclitic.

423. quō modō . . . cavērent: as to how they should guard against the cat. multīs aliīs prōpositīs: when many other things had been proposed. posse: this infinitive depends upon the idea of thinking involved in placuit, etc. cum jam quaererētur, etc.: when it came to asking who would fasten, lit. when it was already asked, etc.; quī is the interrogative; this form (instead of quis) often occurs in indirect questions.

424. sēsē: it, i.e. the tortoise. eam, rem: eam is subject of petere; rem is the object. arreptam sustulit: snatched up and carried.

425. Prīma: understand pars. āit: third sing. of pres. ind. of ājō. et: also. quī: its antecedent is the following is. inimīcum: as an enemy. Quid facerent, etc.: what were the beasts to do? quae: which one?

426. Sāturnus: the god Saturn. Jāniculō: the Janiculum was a hill on the right bank of the Tiber, directly opposite the seven hills on which Rome was built.

427. Trōja: the famous city in northwestern Asia Minor. The mythical date of its overthrow is 1184 B.C. Hinc: i.e. from Troy. pepercerat: from parcō. eī benīgnē receptō dedit: received him kindly and gave him, lit. gave to him having been kindly received. in mātrīmōnium, in honōrem: in marriage, in honor; the Latin says into.

428. monte Albānō: in Latium about twenty miles S.E. of Rome. Alba Longa: lit. the long white (town); so called from the fact that its white buildings stretched for a long distance over the ridge of the hill. genitus erat: from gignō. ūsque ad Rōmam conditam: up to the very founding of Rome, lit. even up to Rome founded.

429. tonāret: impersonal. minor nātū: the younger, lit. the lesser as to birth. praecipitātus est: fell headlong. reliquisset: inasmuch as the preceding indirect question is indirect discourse, reliquisset is a subordinate clause in indirect discourse; hence the subjunctive.

430. Vestālem virginem: there were six Vestal virgins; their duty was to watch the fire which was kept constantly burning on the hearth of Vesta's temple. ā Mārte: by (lit. from) Mars. peperit: from pariō.

431. ultrā rīpam, etc.: i.e. had overflowed its banks, lit. had poured itself beyond the bank. effūderat is from effundō. essent positī: = positī essent; from pōnō. in siccō: on dry land; siccō is used substantively. Quod: this, lit. which; another illustration of the use of the relative pronoun, where in English we naturally employ the demonstrative. sustulit: from tollō. nūtriendōs: to be cared for.

432. trānsēgērunt: from trānsigō. adolēvissent: from adolēscō. frātre[m] irrīdēns: in ridicule of his brother, lit. ridiculing.

437. interrēgnum: interregnum, i.e. a period between reigns. Curi-bus: this limits nātus. quidem: to be sure; observe that quidem always lays stress upon the word immediately preceding it (here bellum); frequently it is best to attempt no special translation of quidem, but to bring out its force in English by the arrangement of words or by oral emphasis. gessit: from gerō. nec minus tamen prōfuit: and yet he was none the less of advantage. et . . . et: both . . . and. sē nymphae, etc.: he said he did at the advice of the nymph Egeria, his wife.

A Latin Grammar.

By Professor CHARLES E. BENNETT, Cornell University. 12mo, cloth, 265 pages. Price, 80 cents.

IN this book the essential facts of Latin Grammar are presented within the smallest compass consistent with high scholarly standards. It covers not only the work of the preparatory school, but also that of the required courses in college and university. By omitting rare forms and syntactical usages found only in ante-classical and post-classical Latin, and by relegating to an Appendix theoretical and historical questions, it has been found possible to treat the subject with entire adequacy in the compass of 250 pages exclusive of Indexes. In the German schools, books of this scope fully meet the exacting demands of the entire gymnasial course, and those who have tried Bennett's Grammar find that they are materially helped by being relieved of the mass of useless and irrelevant matter which forms the bulk of the older grammars.

Professor William A. Houghton, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine :

The Grammar proper is admirably adapted to its purpose in its clearness of arrangement and classification, and in its simplicity and precision of statement, giving definitely just what the pupil must know, and not crowding the page with a mass of matter that too often disheartens the young student instead of helping him. I trust it will come into general use, for I think for the reasons just given, and because of its moderate compass and attractive appearance, students are likely to get more practical grammatical knowledge out of it than they generally do from the larger grammars.

Professor Alfred M. Wilson, Lewis Institute, Chicago, Illinois : I have examined it very carefully, and I can say, truly and with pleasure, that my first impressions have become positive convictions as to the very great value and utility of the book. I am daily using it with increasing delight and satisfaction. It is clear, concise, and independent.

The Critic, Feb. 29, 1896. The book is a marvel of condensed, yet clear and forcible, statement. Just enough examples are given to illustrate each principle without discouraging the pupil by their number and variety. The ground covered in the treatment of forms and syntax is adequate for ordinary school work and for the use of freshmen and sophomores in college.
